*For the purpose of the procurement a clinical advisor, Dr Simon Shaw was appointed to support the evaluation of the bids, from a contract management perspective, Gareth Wallis will be the CCGs' clinical lead from the 1st November 2017. Gareth Wallis has now been replaced by Dr Satyendra Singh as the clinical lead.

* Declared Conflicts for the Integrated MSK Service

- A patient representative/evaluator (at the selection stage) declared that they had a position of authority at the ME/CFS Support Group. At the beginning of this process this created no conflict. The group was then approached by bidders as a potential sub-contractor at stage 2 of the competitive dialogue. The patient representative took no further part in any evaluation or decision making at this point.
- An evaluator declared that they contract manage (as a co-located CSU employee with the CCGs) a range of providers who may also be bidders in the process. This is not as a result of a position/relationship that is separate and additional to the evaluator's professional capacity acting on behalf of the CCGs and therefore would not cause a conflict that would prevent them from being involved in the process as an evaluator of the final bids. It is standard practice by the CCGs to have a clear separation of the ongoing contract management of providers and the procurement of services.

- An evaluator at the tie break interview stage declared his long-time acquaintance with a member of Lancashire Care Foundation Trust's Bid Team as part of their professional capacity in their previous employment. As this acquaintance was through a professional connection in a previous employment it was not considered as a material conflict and a rationale to not be part of the tie break interview panel.
- An evaluator at the tie break interview stage declared that he was a salaried GP for Lancashire Care Foundation Trust at Longridge Community Hospital. Although this was judged as not material at the time this decision was reconsidered by the CCGs and a recommendation was made by the CCGs Conflict of Interest Guardians to re-run the tie break interviews with no further involvement from the evaluator. This individual had no involvement in the process up to the tie break interviews therefore it was only necessary to re-run the interviews to mitigate the conflict.
